

Finished your homework and fancy some more? Have a go at some of these follow-up activities!

Reading

- Write a short summary of what you've read so far (you can include illustrations).
- Invent a new character for the story and write about them.
- Write an evaluation of your book.
- Write your own comprehension questions about the book (but not the answers).
- Before you read, write a prediction of what might happen next. Were you correct?
- Draw a picture of the setting.
- Find interesting words in the story and mark them with a post-it note then look them up in a dictionary.
- Compare 2 of the characters - how are they different or similar?
- Compare 2 books you have read - how are they different or similar?
- Are any of the events in the story similar to things that have happened to you? Write down how and what happened.
- Read a favourite book you have from home and make an advert for it to recommend it to a friend.

Spelling

- Make up a word search using your spelling words.
- Write a short story with all your spelling words in it.
- Write a clue for each of your spelling words as if each word was hidden in a secret box.
- Play hangman with someone using your spelling words.

Maths

- Write out a times table and ask someone to test you on it.
- Practise your times tables against the clock - how many can you write down in a minute? (Check them after to make sure they are correct)
- Logon to www.coolmathgames.com and try some of the games.
- Search for Sudoku for kids online and try a Sudoku puzzle. You can print off or copy out a puzzle and try it.
- Play Battleships with a friend.
- Add the numbers of car number plates as quickly as you can. Play with a friend - who can do it fastest?

Independent Study Project

- Create a powerpoint about a topic you'd like to know more about. Include pictures, facts and information about your chosen topic.
- Create a magazine for your friends. Include comic strips, real-life stories and exciting things to make and do. You could even design your own front cover. You might even want to do this with a friend!
- Produce an interesting factfile about something you'd like to know more about. Include photos and information. You could choose from the following:
 - a sport you've never tried
 - an animal
 - a country
 - something in space
 - a job that people do (eg doctor, film producer)
 - a type of transport
 - a famous person
